DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-4, 38 and 42-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lawrence (US 5915209) ("Lawrence") in view of BuyTextile.com ("BuyTextile").

Re claims 1-4, 38 and 42-44: Lawrence teaches a method of facilitating trading of financial interests, the method comprising: receiving via a computer network terms for a proposed auction in at least one financial interest and associating with said proposed auction a deadline for deciding said proposed auction; providing, prior to the proposed auction, via the computer network information related to the proposed auction to prospective participants in the proposed auction (abstract, col.1, lines 7-27; col. 3, lines 41-54; col. 7, line 62-col. 8, line 29).

Art Unit: 3691

Lawrence does not explicitly teach receiving via the computer network terms for at least one proposed non-auction transaction in the at least one financial interest; and identifying the proposed non-auction transaction as an entry in the proposed auction but not to the prospective participant prior to the proposed auction. BuyTextile teaches receiving via the computer network terms for at least one proposed non-auction transaction in the at least one financial interest; and identifying the proposed non-auction transaction as an entry in the proposed auction but not to the prospective participant prior to the proposed auction (Page 3 of 4; "Buy it now"). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Lawrence to include this step as taught by BuyTextile. One would have been motivated to do so in order to enable the system to add a fixed-price option to the auction so that the transaction can be concluded faster.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 9/20/2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that BuyTextile fails to teach identifying the proposed non-auction transaction as an entry in the proposed auction but not to the prospective participant prior to the proposed auction. Examiner respectfully disagrees. BuyTextile identifies a Buy it now feature as an entry in the proposed auction prior to the proposed auction. The identification of the Buy it now price as an entry in the proposed auction is not disclosed to prospective participant prior to the auction. It is simply an entry that is identified prior to the auction.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
